Pinnters-The Next Year, Ric.

Correspondence of the Nashville Union and Dispatch. COLUMBUS, MISS., Nov. 29, 1866 .- DEAR Str: The cotton crop of this section has been gathered, with very few exceptions. It will not be more than one-fourth as much as it was in 1860. The receipts are now very heavy because, as before stated, nearly all the cotton has been gathered. Cotton will be much higher in the spring than it is now, for by that time the shortness of the crop will be ascertained. No contracts have yet been made, but I do not think there will be much difficulty in making contracts next year. The corn crop is also very short. I doubt whether the cotton made in Mississippi this year will Messre. be more than sufficient to buy the provi- Dixon. sions which the State will need. Gen. Sedgewick's Movements-Surrender of Matamoras to United States Forces-Terms of Surrender-The Attack-Escobado's Loss Seven Hundred and Fourteen-The Alleged Cause of his Defeat-Terms of Agreement-Various Reports of the Affair.

NEW YORK, December 6 .- The World's Brownsville special gives the following additional particulars concerning Gen. Sedge-wick's movement in Mexico: The city of Matamoras was surrendered to General Sedgewick, commanding the United States forces on the Rio Grande, on the evening of the 24th ult. Col. T. G. Perkins of the 19th colored infantry was placed in com-mand. One hundred and eighteen men of in the Presidency, was captured and imthe 4th cavalry crossed over and occupied prisoned. the city on that day.

The following were the terms of surrender: 1. Col. Canales shall place Matamoras under the orders of the commander of the United States forces.

2. The latter guarantees to Canales and his forces, their liberty, and secures the safety of their interests.

3. The persons and interests of all the spected, no matter to what nationality they beived everywhere with a great deal of On motion of Mr. Pike, a Select Com

4. The forces of Canales are to maintain their actual position. 5. No forces shall enter the place except those of the United States.

The attack on Maiamoras began at 5 o'clock A. M., on the 27th. Escobado opened his attack, the American flag in the meantime floating from Government houses. Brisk firing continued up to 7 o'clock, but the attack was repulsed at every point. The American force in the city preserved peace and guarded the ferry—partially acting as provost guard. Escobado, who is and the effect of the presence of the Americans. He claims that orders were forwarded to Gen. Sedgewick from Washington, te afford him all the assistance which he might require in sustaining the authority of Junrez; and that instead of doing it he has assisted Canales, who is in open re-

Escabado's loss in killed and wounded captured and deserted, foots up seven hundred and fourteen men. During the fight on Tuesday morning, Colonel Randall sent a party with a flag of truce to Escobado, informing him that the United States for-ces held the place, and directing that in no case should his forces advance beyond the fortifications without communicating with him. Escobado replied that he should be guided by circumstances; that the American commander had promised him to ing three hundred men in the place. Randall, who had received orders in no case to fire on Escobado's men, immediately made arrangements to withdraw with the army in case he should be attacked. The following is a memorandum of the agreement entered into between Sedgwick and Escobado, prior to the attack: First, Gen. Sedgwick assures Gen. Escobado of the continued friendship of the United States Government towards himself and the Liberal Government, Second, The American commander considers himself as morally holding the city of Matamoras under the terms of Canales' surrender of that place to him, but it is for no hostile purpose with regard to the forces commanded by Escobado, but to protect the lives and property of American and other citizens. Third, That the American commander will withdraw the armed force in case an attack is made, with the exception of fifty men and officers, who will report their presence to Gen. Escabado, should be capture the city. Fourth, That the United States forces shall hold Santa Cruz and the ferry, and that no armed men shall cross to the American shore.

This agreement had not been made known to Colonel Randall when he sent out the flag of truce General Sedgewick's action is incomprehensible. It seems as if he intended first to take possession of the city, and then eventually hand it over to Escobado, and afterwards changed his mind and held the city to protect American citizens and other foreigners.

A steamer just arrived from New Orleans brought dispatches to Gen. Sedge-wick, on the receipt of which orders were issued for the withdrawal of the troops from Another report says that the Liberal force under Gueviero, Navajaro and others, were completely routed at the hacienda De Los Bacos, near San Luis Potosi. Guenja leit the main army with one thousand cavalry, and marched upon Monterey, which had been left without defense.
